Hobbies

- Music - I am a audiophil collect records and enjoy something from all genres, I play the guitar and bass fairly often.

- Art - I appreciate many kinds from games, to novels, movies, comics, graphic design, paintings, and music from their construction from the artist to the presentation to the audience. I can draw at a professional level.
- Reading - I have all sorts of things I am learning, practical books from “thinking tools” to “how to read a book” are fantastic for ameliorating any chaos on how and why think at all, to theoretical books like “the blank slate”, but, to me, I learn most from fiction like “the jungle”, or “crime and punishment”.
- Thinking/planning - I like to do some arm-chair thinking of course, some basic philosophizing, however I will run a business and have many things occupying my time in the future, so learning about business and being responsible about how I spend my time is important to me. I network often and know many people from many occupations, and the “people” they know too.
